

Defining financial value. Why you need a forensic accountant.

As a long-standing, well-respected boutique accountancy practice, Wilder Coe carries out forensic accounting and litigation support to accurately investigate, analyse, and define the financial value of a dispute.

As our client, we appreciate your need to obtain immediate and decisive action, particularly in a business environment where threatening financial situations are increasingly common.

You can benefit from our range of forensic accounting services

- Share and business valuations
- Shareholder's or partnership disputes
- Fraud investigations
- Wrongful trading claims
- Loss of profit calculations
- Loss of earning calculations
- Professional negligence claims
- Tax investigations
- Personal injury claims
- Divorce claims

Working with the legal profession, our expertise helps a range of business and industry cases. You will benefit from our clear, concise interpretation and presentation of the facts in a written and oral format for court and civil proceedings.

Led by Bee-Lean Chew, our team welcomes the opportunity to discuss your matters informally. You can also receive a considered report setting out the key issues to address.

To arrange a discussion with our team and find out how our forensic accounting services can help you, please call Bee-Lean Chew today.
